Why Cambodia?

Cambodia, a Southeast Asia country that is rich in culture and traditions, has seen rapid growth in the last two decades. Cambodia's GDP has grown at an average annual rate of 7%, ranking 6th globally. Cambodia is strategically located at the heart of the Belt and Road Initiative (known in Chinese as the “One Belt One Road Initiative”), the 21st-century maritime silk road.

The proportion of Cambodian industries in terms of GDP is 43.5% for the service industry, 26.7% for agriculture, and 16% for manufacturing. The services industry is led by tourism and the manufacturing industry is mainly clothing and footwear.

Cambodia's unique charms have made it become a well-known tourist country on the globe. The prosperity of tourism directly promotes Cambodia's economic development. In addition to tourism revenue, it provides 1 million job opportunities.

Cambodia Culture

The culture of Cambodia has had a rich and varied history dating back many centuries and has been heavily influenced by India. Cambodia achieved unparalleled success in all areas including art, architecture, music, dance, and even trading wisdom during its Golden Age, the Angkor era.

Throughout Cambodia's long history, a major source of inspiration was religion. Over two millennia, Cambodians developed a unique Khmer belief from the syncretism of indigenous animistic beliefs and the Indian religions of Buddhism and Hinduism. At varying times, Cambodian culture also absorbed Javanese, Chinese and Thai influences.

Cambodia People

Khmer people are a Southeast Asian ethnic group and nation native to Cambodia, accounting for over 97% of the country's 15.9 million people. They speak the Khmer language, which is part of the larger Austroasiatic language family found in parts of Southeast Asia (including Vietnam and Laos), parts of central, eastern, and north eastern India, parts of Bangladesh in South Asia, in parts of Southern China and numerous islands in the Indian Ocean.

The majority of the Khmers follow the orders of Dhammayuttika Nikaya and Maha Nikaya of Theravada Buddhism. Significant of Khmer populations reside in adjacent areas of Thailand (Northern Khmer) and the Mekong Delta region of neighboring Vietnam (Khmer Krom), while there are over one million Khmers in the Khmer diaspora living mainly in France, the United States, and Australia.

Cambodia Food

Num Thnout

Jek Ktis
(Banana Tapioca)

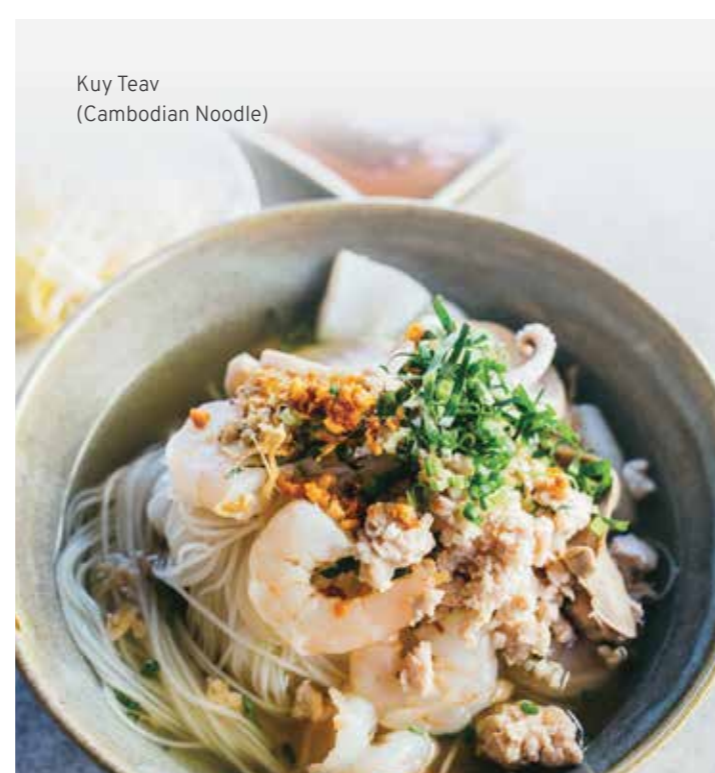

While not as spicy or as varied as food from neighbouring Thailand, Malaysia or Vietnam, Khmer food (aka Cambodian cuisine) is tasty and affordable and is invariably accompanied by rice.

Thai and Vietnamese characteristics can be found in Khmer food, although Cambodians love a stronger sour taste in their dishes, especially through the addition of prahok, the famous Khmer fish paste (although for most foreigners this is most definitely an acquired taste!).

In addition to Khmer food, there is a large number of Chinese restaurants, especially in Phnom Penh and large provincial centers. Like other Asian countries, Cambodian street food is very popular. Many of the dishes mentioned below can be enjoyed at the street food markets in Siem Reap, Phnom Penh and other cities in Cambodia.

High Economic Growth

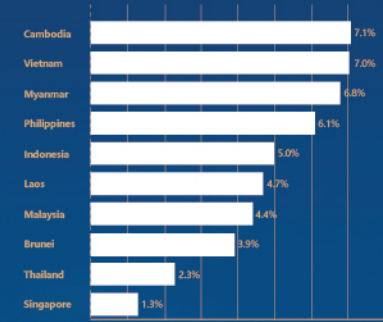

Cambodia is the No.1 in ASEAN countries with an average GDP growth rate of 7% in recent years. And during the worldwide pandemic crisis period, Cambodia has continued to achieve strong economic growth. It is expected that Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) mainly in the garment and real estate industries will continue to expand, and that the construction and tourism industries will grow as well. As a result, foreign investors have become very interested in Cambodia as an investment destination. In addition, the number of companies expanding into Cambodia as bases in Asia is increasing year by year.

Cambodia is One of The Most Highly Dollarized Country in The World

According to 2020 Investment Climate Statements: Cambodia by the State government report by U.S Department of State, U.S. dollars are highly used and preferred and remain the primary currency for most large transactions in Cambodia despite the country has its own currency, the Riel (denoted as KHR). As a matter of fact, there are no regulation on the conversion of capital for foreign investors.

The exchange rate between KHR and U.S. dollars has been leveled off at around 1 U.S. dollar to 4,000 KHR for the past decades. Day to day fluctuations of the exchange rate, which is inevitable, are remarkably low, typically under 3%. For the past several years, the Cambodian government has been putting efforts to increase the generalization of the KHR but, as stated above, Cambodia's economy remains largely dollarized.

While each country has regulations such as restrictions on converting money into foreign currencies and restrictions on remittances abroad, and to do so requires complicated procedures, Cambodia has no restrictions on remittances so far. In addition, Cambodia's interest rate on time deposit is currently about 4.5% to 6.5% per annum, making it extremely attractive from a financial perspective.

Special Economic Zone

In Cambodia, the Special Economic Zone (SEZ) has been set as a special zone for the development of the economic sector, where all industries are concentrated. Phnom Penh has the "Phnom Penh Special Economic Zone (PPSEZ)" which has the largest premises and number of tenants in Cambodia. Currently, there are about 100 companies from 15 countries in PPSEZ, of which 48 are Japanese companies. In addition to tax incentives, it is characterized by a well-developed infrastructure and a one-stop office for government office procedures for the Cambodian government such as customs clearance, various certifications and work permits. It is expected to advance further.

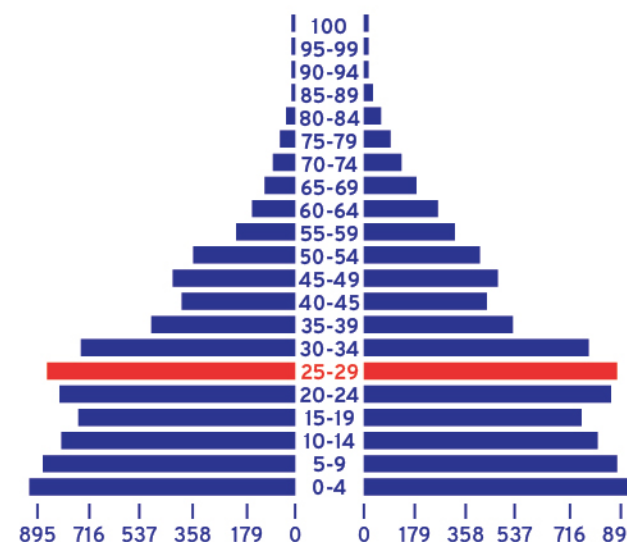

Overwhelming Young Energy and Population Growth

In Cambodia, there are many young people who are at the center of economic growth and the demographic chart is ideal. With an average age of 25.6, and 70% of the population consisting of younger generation age 34 and below, Cambodia market has potential to grow for years to come. The labour force is sufficient to supply until 2070. Consumer market is also expected to continue to expand over the next 60 years.

Chairman of Khmer Home Charity Association

A word from the Deputy-Chairman of Khmer Home Charity Association

I feel honoured and privileged to establish the KHCA - the only association recognized by the Ministry of the Interior of the country. I am truly honored and grateful. We started as Golden Cambodia Century (GCC) which originated from Hong Kong who ventured into the Kingdom of Cambodia years ago. We saw the opportunities in the kingdom and we were thinking of sharing all the good things we had in Cambodia with our connections in Hong Kong and the Greater Bay Area. We hope to be a bridge between China and Cambodia. Besides promoting business opportunities in both countries, our association also aims to provide full solutions and protection for people in these two countries.

As everyone already knows, Cambodia-China relationship is growing from strength to strength in every sectors. We would like to strengthen the ties through culture, people to people, and business to business. A lot of people ask me, “Why Cambodia?” My answer is always the same. Simply put because Cambodia chose me. Over the years, my friends and I have already treated Cambodia as my second home. It is fate who brings us together. That’s why together with MOI, we initiated the “Cambodia My 2nd Home” program.

Last but not least, I would like to thank you for your support. Rest assured, providing quality and reliable services to our members is our utmost priority.

Thanks for loving Cambodia!
